The Department of State requests that an individual running a write-in campaign submit their name and contact information prior to the election. Also, if they are running for President as a write-in candidate, that they also submit the name of their Vice-Presidential candidate and 20 Presidential Electors and all their contact information prior to the election, as well.

Good morning.

Ballotpedia says Pennsylvania does not require presidential write-in candidates to file special paperwork before the election in order to have their votes tallied. Is that correct?
